Conditions

1. This licence is issued to the keeper of the bovine animals at the premises of destination.
2. The licence holder will be responsible for ensuring compliance with the conditions of the licence and may be asked to produce the licence as part of an inspection at any time.
3. Bovine animals moved under this licence must comply with the requirements for Pre-Movement TB Testing (PRMT) where applicable.
4. This licence may be cancelled at any time.
5. Bovine animals must not be moved under the authorisation of this licence if they are subject to TB movement restrictions.
6. The licence holder must report all bovine animals moved under this licence to British Cattle Movement Service (BCMS) for England and Wales or ScotEID for Scotland within 3 days of their movement.
7. All bovine animals moving under this licence must be included in the next short interval test unless they have been pre-movement tested in the 60 days prior to this test.
8. The movement of bovine animals pursuant to this licence shall be entered in the record required to be kept under The Cattle Identification Regulations 2007 (as amended) / The Cattle Identification (Scotland) Regulations 2007 (as amended) / The Cattle Identification (Wales) Regulations 2007 (as amended).
9. In England and Wales, bovine animals moved under this licence and subsequently slaughtered because of TB, before the herd regains its officially TB free (OTF) status, will be subject to a reduction in the compensation payment of 50%. In England, Cattle Health Certification Standards (CHECS) bTB accredited herds are exempt from this reduction, providing accreditation was gained prior to loss of OTF status.
10. In Wales, the authorisation in this licence is automatically revoked and the licence invalidated, if a greater number of animals are moved on to the premises of destination than is permitted under this licence. Please note that TB compensation will be reduced by 95% of the market value, for any animal that has been moved on to a holding without a valid movement licence, if it is subsequently slaughtered because of TB before the herd regains its OTF status. It is also an offence under the Animal Health Act 1981 for a person to fail to observe the terms of a licence made under The Tuberculosis (Wales) Order 2010 (as amended).
11. This licence is automatically revoked if reactors are disclosed on the destination premises. No animals may be moved on under this licence whilst reactors are present on the premises of destination.

Any movement of bovine animals under this licence must comply with the conditions of the general licences issued under Disease Control (England) Order 2003 (as amended), the Disease Control (Interim Measures) (Scotland) Order 2002 (as amended) and/or the Disease Control (Wales) Order 2003 (as amended).
